Observations from the LA Auto Show

What do car spokes-models wear to sell a Porsche? The answer is... a black Alexander Wang dress. For the most part, the days of the "car babes" for the major automobile brands are gone. The auto companies are hiring firms to carefully calculate their image and brand to appeal to their target demographic. This includes who they select as models and what they wear.

I went to the LA Auto Show and, while my husband and son, Tyler, were looking at all of the new models of cars, I focused on the outfits of the spokes-models. Here are a few examples of what different car companies had their models wearing:

*Acura - silver Akris Punto dresses or Burberry suits that looked sophisticated.
*Toyota - red Max Mara dresses and "Toyota red" lipstick.

Orene's Special Holiday Tips for 2012 Celebrate in Style

It's the holiday season - the most, wonderful time of the year - unless of course you're totally unprepared. Do you have your festive outfits picked out? Don't panic. You may have just what you need to put your party look together right there in your own closet. Otherwise, a few little items may be all you need to shop for.

Chandelier earrings. This earring style brings light and movement where you want it the most - at your face. Your chandelier earring can have mixed metals, tiers of gemstones, and be of varied lengths. Pair them with a jeweled encrusted clutch and you're

*Lexis - black Akris Punto dresses paired with Stuart

Weitzman boots or Akris Punto black suit with pumps.

*Infiniti - Elie Tahari dresses that looked urban and classy.

*Mitsubishi - black Bebe jacket and black jeans that looked younger and hipper.

*Scion - Theory black shirt dress, a custom glass belt buckle, leggings and boots that looked urban.

*Chevrolet Spark - Lafayette 148 black dress with Stuart Weitzman boots - these particular dresses looked very hip.

*Mini Cooper - Converse high top sneakers, black work-out pants and a turquoise polo shirt that looked very sporty (for men and women).

How important is image when you sell anything? The answer is...Very! For example, when an good to go.

Bright gloves. Long leather or satin gloves that reach the elbow add glamour to any party's grand entrance. Wear a pair in a deep-jeweled tone like ruby, sapphire or emerald to add a pop of color to a simple black dress. If you don't care for long gloves, go with a shorter pair with gem details. The sparkle will be perfect attention-getters.

Color blocking. Blocks of bright colors were everywhere in fall fashion from dresses to jackets to shoes. Try these color combos: classic black and white; gold and plum; black and gold; moss green and eggplant. These vivid color pairings will keep the eyes dancing. Want color blocking on a smaller scale? Find a clutch in black and red. Add it to your holiday evening attire and then wear it long after the holidays too.

Sequins or paillettes. If you purchased a dress this fall with sequins or paillettes, you have the perfect holiday outfit. These details will light up any room. A sequined cropped jacket is stunning with a simple black tuxedo pant. Or add a narrow sequined belt to bring playfulness to your dressiest jeans for a casual get together. Add a soft plum lipstick and go with an updo. You'll be inspired to dance the night away.

Fur (faux or real). If you didn't get any fur pieces this fall season, this classic may be in the back of your closet. Time to pull it out. Fur shrugs, capes, fur coats, even fur collars are fashionable, functional and appropriate to wear over your party outfits. Or, check the sale rack right now as a cute cropped fur jacket that looks great on you may be on sale.

Red. If you have your favorite shade of red living somewhere in your closet, this is the perfect time to bring it out. Scarlet red, rust red, plum red, any shade of red can be the base of a great festive outfit. If you're missing red and lusting for it, go bold and wear red lipstick. Be sure to wear a nude lipliner to avoid any bleeding of color into fine lines around the mouth.

Need help? Don't hesitate. I'll help you get ready for all your party needs!
